Dead drink-drive dad a 'good man'

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A WIFE has said her husband who died after crashing his car with his young daughter inside while he was over the drink-drive limit will be 'in our hearts forever as a good man'.

Shanmuga Pooranam, 36, had taken daughter Samhida to collect a pizza from Domino's when his Toyota Yaris collided with a curb and a lamppost before smashing into a fence and then a house while it was 10ft in the air.

The company director from Newport Pagnell, known as Shan to family and friends, was pronounced dead at the scene.

At an inquest into his death on Thursday, coroner Tom Osborne said it was a 'surprise' the eight-year-old girl had escaped 'virtually unscathed'.

MK NEWS reported the incident when it took place on September 4 last year in Tabard Gardens, Newport Pagnell.

At Milton Keynes Coroner's Court it was revealed Mr Pooranam was travelling at about 60mph in a 30mph zone, was not wearing his seatbelt and was violently thrown from the vehicle.

A witness told the inquest how they saw little Samhida next to her father as he lay dead, saying 'wake up daddy'.

Death scene: Shan Pooranam's Toyota Yaris smashed through a fence into this house

But speaking to MK NEWS after the inquest, Mr Pooranam's wife Femina said her daughter was recovering well and the family was keen to remember the best of her husband.

She said: "He was such a nice man and it is so unfortunate that it has happened like this.

"He is in our hearts forever as a good man. She [Samhida] has been so brave and she has said that 'it has happened and it is not dad's fault'. She just wants to make him proud."

In the week leading up to the collision, the family had been in Ibiza celebrating Samhida's birthday.

Mrs Pooranam admitted that she did not know her husband had been drinking, adding: "It was a shock, we did not know he had done that."

Making his ruling of death in a road traffic collision, Mr Osborne said: "This is a result of speed and alcohol. When I viewed the photos and the circumstances reported to me it comes as a surprise that the daughter was virtually unscathed, and that is hopefully due to the fact she was wearing a seat belt.

"This is a tragedy for the family, but I'm pleased the daughter is doing well and that she will remember her dad prior to this."

'We'd love Primark at centre:mk'

THE new man in charge of thecentre:mk has said that he would 'love' to see Primark move into the shopping centre – after the retail giant confirmed its 'intention' to open another store in the city.

It comes a year to the week after an application to build a store at the centre was withdrawn by Primark – following protests that it would both demolish Secklow Gate Bridge and force the market to move.

But James Waugh, appointed centre director in December, told MK NEWS: "Attracting Primark to Milton Keynes would be great for the centre, and for the city, and we would love to facilitate that.

"They have a very specific requirement for what they need before taking on the major investment of a new flagship store and although no specific site has been identified, if it is possible to give them the right space in the right location we will work with them and local stakeholders to make that a reality."

Linda Inoki, of pressure group Xplain, had opposed the previous application but said she would welcome a store if it was in the right place.

She also suggested the 'ailing' Food Hall as a possible location.

She said: "We would welcome new investment, jobs and a popular new store such as Primark, but we hope any proposals would be responsible and respect the people of Milton Keynes."

Top of the chips: Owner Antonio Palmiero with his sons Dino and Giulio with regular Linda Smith as she collects her £20 and tucks into some food at her favourite chippy in Westcroft

Top chippy is frying high

RESIDENTS have chosen their favourite chippy as part of a national campaign celebrating our love of chips.

As part of National Chip Week, which ran until Sunday, we asked readers to vote for their favourite fish 'n' chip shop on our website – www.mkweb.co.uk.

And Westfriers in Westcroft – a family owned chip shop run by Antonio and Elaine Palmiero for the last 17 years – came top of the poll.

Mrs Palmiero said: "We were overwhelmed as there are so many in Milton Keynes. It's fantastic.

"I think it's the family atmosphere. People come in and have a chat and obviously we must do good food."

Linda Smith, 58, from West Bletchley, won £20 after voting for the chippy.

She said: "We always go there as others are never as good. I love their fish and chips."

Private dental check-ups are 4th expensive

SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

MILTON Keynes is the fourth most expensive place in the UK for private dental check-ups, according to new research.

The average cost of a check-up is £46, which is behind only Stratford-upon-Avon (£67), Newbury (£56) and Guildford (£55), according to private healthcare search engine WhatClinic.com.

But the city fared much better with other treatments.

It is the 10th cheapest place for dental implants, 11th cheapest for teeth whitening, 13th best for veneers and 21st for canal treatment.

The Hub Dental Practice in Witan Gate says it is Milton Keynes' largest private dental practice and charges £25 for an initial examination.

Senior partner, Dr David Gilmartin, said: "I would say that it's a free market and dentists charging high fees need to justify those fees."

A spokesman for the British Dental Association said: "Dentists operate as small businesses – they have to pay for all their own equipment, their staff and their premises so if they work in an area where rents are higher – such as the middle of a town – their charges are likely to reflect this."

The data was based on clinic information from more than 11,000 dental clinics in the UK that are listed on WhatClinic.com.

Carer faces charges

POLICE have charged a 26-year-old carer with neglect offences. Aanu Christiana Adeyi, of Hornbeam Court, Netherfield, was charged on Friday with two counts of ill-treatment on a person without capacity. The charges relate to incidents in November last year against a young woman in a care home in Halswell Place, Middleton. She was bailed and is due to appear at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on March 7.

Driver's jaw broken

A 32-YEAR-OLD has been arrested on suspicion of breaking another man's jaw. A fight broke out between two motorists in V4 Watling Street, Fenny Stratford, at 1.30pm on February 15. Prior to the scuffle the victim was driving a silver Vauxhall Vectra and the offender was driving a blue Audi A3. The man has been released on bail until April 20. If you saw anything call police on 101, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

City broadband funding

OVER the next couple of years £3.18million will be spent on increasing the city's broadband speed. MPs Mark Lancaster and Iain Stewart are delighted with the announcement from The Department of Culture, Media and Sport. It will be giving £250million to local authorities to extend superfast broadband coverage to 95 per cent of the UK by 2017.

On site: Alison and Guy with baby Charlotte in the car park outside Milton Keynes Hospital

Baby's car park delivery drama

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A COUPLE have said they 'are done' with having children – after the dramatic arrivals of their babies left them wondering what a natural birth was.

Guy Adams and Alison Elmy, from Shenley Lodge, thought they had seen it all with the birth of their first child Bethany two years ago.

Despite being a healthy child now, Bethany was given just a 50 per cent chance of survival after been diagnosed with a serious heart condition. Not to be outdone though, her baby sister Charlotte entered the world on Tuesday, February 18 – on the pavement of a car park outside Milton Keynes Hospital – after her parents just failed to reach A&E.

Guy said: "As I parked up Alison said that the baby was coming and managed to get about 12 inches away before the baby arrived.

"She did bump her head as she came out, but after some scares from a CT scan in which we thought she might have a serious bleed on the brain, she now seems to be totally unharmed by her first interaction with concrete!

"The total labour from waking up to physically giving birth was less than 70 minutes – we know the time of birth as being 5.52am exactly as we have a car parking ticket printed at 5.51am!

"The whole affair, including the birth and me shouting out for help, was heard by my mum who I accidentally dialled from my pocket as I got out of the car."

Guy added that the hospital staff – who came to know the couple as the 'car park people' – had been 'fantastic'.

Tracy Payne, head of midwifery, said: "Deliveries en-route to the hospital are extremely rare. This time it seems little one couldn't wait to meet the world!"

Sampford hearing

A HEARING is due to take place at Luton Crown Court today to determine the sentence of Sheila Sampford, 75, who pleaded guilty to murdering her 83-year-old husband John. She claims it was an act of mercy as he was terminally ill with leukaemia.

Robbers target teen

A TEENAGER was cornered and robbed by fellow youths at a bus stop in Midsummer Arcade. The boy, 14, handed over money and his phone after being targeted near McDonald's on Friday.

Cyclist hospitalised

A 42-year-old cyclist was taken to Milton Keynes Hospital after being hit by a car in St Andrews Road, Bletchley, on Monday.

Water leaks into electric buses

BATTERIES under the new electric buses had to be repaired after water leaked into them.

The five vehicles, running on Route Seven from Wolverton to Bletchley and through the city centre, were affected last week.

Project director John Miles has reassured users the issue has now been resolved.

He said: "The electric buses did suffer some interruptions following water ingress into a battery isolator. This issue was resolved and all five buses are now back in service.

"This is a trial project, set up to establish the viability of electric buses, so in a sense this is the sort of thing we need to take in our stride and resolve as efficiently as possible while ensuring a good service is maintained for the public."

The final three buses should arrive within the next three weeks.

Point plans to be discussed

PLANS to demolish The Point and build a new modern leisure and retail space will be discussed at a meeting next Thursday.

The development control committee at Milton Keynes Council is expected to make a decision on whether to grant a planning application for the site, which will have 20,600 square metres of retail space.

James Hepburn, development manager at Hammerson, which owns the site, said: "Our proposals will help to kick-start additional investment and development in Midsummer Boulevard and Milton Keynes more widely."

Letters to The Editor, MK NEWS, 1 Diamond Court, Fox Milne, Milton Keynes MK15 0DU | letters@mk-news.co.uk

Powered online by: MKWEB WWW.MKWEB.CO.UK

Get on your bike!

THE letters page is often dominated by comments on the problems of high car use and the February 19 issue provided a good selection of topical issues.

These included parking outside schools and in estates and more multi-story parking in the city centre.

The same paper gave the news that Milton Keynes Council is to spend £34.5 million on dualling the A421 from the MI to the Kingston Roundabout.

The news that MK is in the top 10 of obesity towns with more than seven in 10 people, young and old, obese is not surprising given the attention to the needs of the motorist in this car town of ours.

Can we carry on like this, ignoring the damage car use is causing, and I write as a motorist as well as a cyclist, or can we adapt to changing circumstances?

I am not talking about getting rid of the car but about persuading us all to drive less and walk, cycle and use public transport more.

Chris Boardman points out that in spite of Olympic golds and Tour de France yellows we are failing to embed cycling in everyday culture.

British Cycling estimates that if one in 10 journeys were cycled the NHS could save at least £250million per year by reducing heart disease, obesity and type two diabetes.

British Cycling's manifesto calls for consistent political leadership for cycling at national and local levels to take it into account into everything we do, from policy making to road and junction design with a meaningful investment to do so (other European countries are spending up to seven times the amount we spend per head).

Other measures called for include cycle awareness in the driving test, strengthening the Highway Code to improve cyclist safety, on road cycle training for all children (not the few as now) and road and cycle safety awareness campaigns.

Spring is on its way and now is the time to nip along to your local bike shop and invest in the cycle of your choice from the wonderful selection available. For some of you there are cycle to work schemes, which provide a massive discount.

Why not try one of the many cycle rides organised at every level throughout Milton Keynes? Happy and safe cycling.

Tree-mendous warning

YOUR headline 'Lucky escape' (MK NEWS, February 19) puts it very mildly indeed.

A 40 foot high conifer, and a Cypress Leylandii at that, should have been seen for what it was – a manifest danger to life and limb in such conditions.

No doubt some will argue that deciduous trees are just as dangerous. Not so! These shed their leaves and so are less dangerous in high winds.

We have been warned. Next time we have such high winds we might be reading of lives being lost.

If it is a choice between some branches being trimmed off a tree and that same untrimmed tree being blown down and killing someone then choose to trim it!

Barry Gowland

Backing boulevard

IN RELATION to the recent workshop on the future of Midsummer Boulevard, you quoted Councillor Paul Williams as saying that 'Midsummer Boulevard isn't working as it currently is at the moment' ('Let's all unite over boulevard, MK NEWS, February 19).

I don't understand. I cross it quite regularly with no problem whatsoever.

I assume that most people don't cross it because there is nothing there. If there were a supermarket or two, as in the good old days, or perhaps a Primark then I am sure people would be crossing in their thousands.

In any case, is levelling, narrowing and prettifying Midsummer Boulevard really a priority for our hard-pressed public finances?

And what makes it even odder is that most people, quite reasonably, choose to walk in the enclosed arcades of the shopping centre rather than along Midsummer Boulevard anyway.

Name and address supplied

What a turnaround

JUST a year ago market traders and citizens were totally committed to collecting signatures for a massive petition to stop the destruction of Secklow Gate Bridge and Market Square for a new Primark.

If that had gone ahead our livelihoods as market traders would have vanished and Milton Keynes would have lost a genuine community asset.

What a difference a year makes! I attended the Community Design Workshop to help map out the future of Midsummer Boulevard East and I am delighted that the proposal to improve and expand the market, while keeping it in its ideal home in Market Square, got widespread support.

That proposal has now gone forward, along with others that are aimed at making this whole area come to life. Thanks and congratulations to MK Council and CMK Town Council for enabling so many of its citizens, landowners and councillors to work together in this venture.

Elizabeth Hobbs
Chairman, MK National Market Traders Federation

We drove bus change

I'M WRITING in response to John Bint's letter in MK NEWS on February 12 about the increased frequency of the number 18 bus as I'm concerned for his welfare.

He's absolutely right to welcome the extra buses. Many elderly and disabled people throughout Simpson, Woughton on the Green and Woolstone have told us how important the service is to them, the confusion caused by the different departure times throughout the day and how the service leaves nowhere near enough time for proper shopping in Bletchley before returning.

However, he seems to be suffering from severe memory loss when he tries to make the issue political.

Has he forgotten that he was the cabinet member for transport who championed the service cut last year? Indeed the extra bus money was only found in the second draft of this year's budget, after he had stood down from the cabinet and was no longer the decision maker.

His short-term memory also seems affected, as otherwise he would remember the budget meeting only last month when we explicitly called for reinstating these bus services.

We've been proud to be part of a campaign of parish councils, local residents and councillors of different parties in making these changes happen and it's the difference it will make to people living on the bus route that matters to the residents we represent, not scoring political points. May I recommend a period of rest and relaxation for him to recuperate?

Cllr Ric Brackenbury

Jon Brett's City Life

His column written exclusively for MK NEWS

HERE in the City Life office, we're always on the lookout for something different to do. And sometimes that even means venturing out of Milton Keynes.

Our latest adventure took us to the unfortunately named Rottingdean and the White Horse Hotel. Not as bad as it sounds, it is actually a quaint seaside village just five or so miles from Brighton – or around a two-and-a-quarter hour drive from CMK.

Braving heavy rain and 40ft waves, we hopped on the coastal bus for the short ride to Brighton, keen to find some indoor attractions to visit.

Our first port of call was Brighton Pavilion. This crazily designed former Royal Palace dominates the town centre and was the former holiday home of King George IV.

The interior is as crazy as the exterior, with hidden passages and giant banqueting halls. It seems incredible to think this remained a royal palace right up until the time Queen Victoria sold it because she felt it didn't offer enough privacy.

Another good indoor attraction is the Sea Life aquarium. Built during the Victorian heyday for this popular resort, it is home to a fascinating array of sea creatures.

These aren't just giant fish tanks, a lot of conservation work and research is undertaken here.

And no trip to the seaside would be complete without a walk on the pier. Luckily the sun was shining by then.

Milton Keynes has a lot to offer, but the seaside isn't one of those things.

There is life beyond the grid roads, roundabouts and shopping centre, if you're prepared to find it.

Uni league table racist, says Rev

BY MAL TATTERSALL
editor@mk-news.co.uk

THE controversial head of a college has accused the global education establishment of being racist for not including any African establishments among the world's top 200 universities.

The Rev Dr Tina Beloveth Powerful issued a bizarre rant claiming that African universities had been 'excluded' as part of 'institutional racism' and an 'extension of an apartheid regime'.

She went on to demand that what she described as 'negative' descriptions of African countries like 'third world' and 'developing' be banned.

Instead, she said, they must be referred to as 'the Blessed Nations of the World' or 'The Love Nations of the World'.

Dr Powerful, pictured, recently claimed to have settled a case with Harvard University – after it accused the city centre school of copyright infringement for its similar 'Havard' name.

She has now renamed it 'Everest School of Transformational Leadership'.

She refused to say how many students graduated from her college last year or how many are enrolled.

But Dr Powerful admitted controversy about the college – including an investigation by trading standards in MK – had hit recruitment.

She said: "They are aware of it and aren't happy because lectures are rooted on the Word of God."

Healthy hearts: MK Dons SET ready to go on the road with Heart Research UK for the project

All aboard to tackle obesity

A BULGE-BUSTING project aimed at tackling obesity has received a £6,000 charity grant.

MK Dons Sport and Educational Trust (SET) is working with Heart Research UK to teach more than 300 children aged 10-11 about healthy eating and exercise.

The project, Get Onside 4 a Healthy Heart, will work with 10 primary schools in lessons and activities on board the 'Dons on Tour' bus. Ashley Whitmore, project leader, said: "Hopefully, we will be able to encourage these children to change their attitudes and adopt a healthier lifestyle."

Arsonists blamed for slide blaze

THE official opening of a playground has been cancelled after arsonists struck for a second time.

Firefighters were called to the site in Barry Avenue, Bradville, at 11.01pm on Saturday and had to put out a burning slide. Deborah Dyer, secretary of the Community Play Project in Bradville, said: "Five years ago a piece of equipment was burnt down, but the people were caught.

"We had just managed to replace it and planned our grand opening for April 18 but we will have to reschedule."

Flood equipment: Mark Robinson from Bucks Fire talks to Michael Dugher and Andrew Pakes

Minister meets flood crew

SENIOR Shadow Minister for the Cabinet Michael Dugher met with fire crews yesterday to hear about the work they have been doing to protect areas from storms and floods.

Crews from Broughton and Newport Pagnell fire stations are among the firefighters who have worked non-stop in shifts for the past two weeks to protect homes in Marlow from rising water.

Mr Dugher also met firefighters from Newport Pagnell's Water Rescue Unit who deal with emergency incidents caused by flooding.

The shadow cabinet minister was invited by Andrew Pakes, Labour's Milton Keynes South general election candidate.

He said: "It has been great to learn from the experiences of the fire crews who have been working around the clock to tackle localised flooding and storm damage across Bucks."

Call for judicial review of land

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A RESIDENT will call for a judicial review of Milton Keynes Council's decision to sell land to a consortium led by Dons chairman Pete Winkelman – if the price isn't bumped up.

We previously revealed how the authority's deal to sell a section of land at Tickford Field Farms in Newport Pagnell to property consortium InterMK was called in by 20 residents from Bradwell who considered the land to be undervalued.

The council had agreed to dispose of the 79.5 acre site to InterMK for £2.03million.

The land could then be developed and any increase in the land price, should it be sold off, would be split 50/50, although InterMK would have to invest it in a world class sports training facility – potentially for MK Dons.

Resident Paul van Geete claims experts believe the land could be worth up to £13million in 2015.

And now, in documents seen by MK NEWS, law firm Leigh Day, on behalf of Mr Van Geete and other residents, believe that the decision is 'unlawful' and that they will commence judicial review proceedings if the sale continues as it is.

Share your views on this: Visit www.mkweb.co.uk

Mr Van Geete said: "We will have to wait for the decision in March before we know what to do next."

MK Council said it 'actively welcomes any challenges to ensure we get it right'.

Mr Winkelman added he was pleased the council was 'applying a transparent and robust process' to the matter.

Proms in the Park

MILTON Keynes City Orchestra has once again teamed up with The Parks Trust to present this year's Proms in the Park. The event, in Campbell Park, will take place on Friday, August 15 at 8pm. See www.mkweb.co.uk for more.

Car taken from drive

A BMW was stolen after thieves picked up the keys by gaining access through an unlocked back door of a home in Chalfont Close, Bradville, last Wednesday between 8.15pm and 8.30pm. Anyone with information should call Detective Constable Wendy Cissell on 101.

Trust's chief warns of MK cull

A BADGER cull may come to Milton Keynes, according to the new chief executive of a national charity.

Dominic Dyer, from the Badger Trust, said: "MK is one of a number of places which could have a badger culling problem."

Celebrities such as Queen guitarist Brian May and Springwatch presenter Chris Packham have welcomed the appointment of Mr Dyer, who is from MK. Mr May said: "Dominic's work in the last two years has been an inspiration to us all."

Place of peace for parents

GRIEVING parents will have a 'peaceful' piece of parkland dedicated to their child's memory.

Milton Keynes Bereaved Parents Group, which meets at Age UK in Peartree Bridge, has planted snowdrops at Woburn Abbey for a year and will unveil a special plaque on Sunday to mark the occasion.

Val Hawthorne, who lost her daughter Lucy, 14, from ovarian cancer, hopes it will 'reach out to parents who don't know about the group'.

Posters' come clean message

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW custody suite at Milton Keynes Police Station will display powerful messages to encourage criminals to admit to their offences.

The upgraded facility is being officially opened today by The High Sheriff of Buckinghamshire, Sir Stuart Hampson.

Each cell will contain posters on the walls and ceilings with messages encouraging people to admit all their offences and make only one visit to the suite.

These messages will be repeated on offenders' walk to court expressing that their confessions may be taken into consideration during sentencing – instead of them being prosecuted again.

Superintendent Barry Halliday hopes these posters will have an impact as he detects a 'sea of change' with more people admitting all their offences.

He told MK NEWS about a 30-year-old man sentenced to four years' imprisonment for a dwelling burglary in Springfield.

Admission: Daniel Dowse, 30

Daniel Dowse, of North Row, pleaded guilty to one count of burglary and theft at Aylesbury Crown Court on February 7.

However, during his sentencing he admitted a further 21 burglaries across the city between October 25, 2013 and January 1 this year.

These were taken into consideration by the court.

Supt Halliday said: "This was really good news and shows a positive sea of change where people are admitting all offences and not just one.

"Dowse is a prime example of a walking crime wave who admitted his extra offences which we need to stop in the first place.

"Our new custody suite has powerful messages displayed in the suite and on the way to court to encourage people to make only one visit here and admit any other offences and not commit crime again.

"We want to stop the cycle of offences by getting them to come clean."

Detective Inspector Suzette Allcorn, of Milton Keynes CID, said: "Dowse wanted to co-operate with police and to make full admissions to the other offences he had committed.

"His intention was to clean his slate and hopefully bring some closure to victims knowing that the offender had been brought to justice."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Billy Harley feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Bedford, Milton Keynes & Leighton Buzzard areas and Billy is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Billy a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

Founder slams Bletchley Park

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

THE man who founded the Bletchley Park Trust says board members 'should consider their positions'.

The group and The National Museum of Computing (TNMOC) have played out a very public war of words.

Alderman Roger Bristow, a former mayor of the city who started the trust, has reserved strong words for the current incumbents of the organisation.

It follows the dismissal of volunteer Tony Carroll for taking people to visit the Colossus computer at TNMOC during guided tours.

"I think they all need to consider their positions," he told MK NEWS.

"It makes me very cross to see how the current trust is repaying and treating those volunteers without whom the site would have been lost."

But following the latest argument, over the construction of a fence that people fear will 'fragment' the site, TNMOC has called for an independent person to review the fractured relationship to help them reach a consensus.

A trust statement said: "Like all families, sometimes disagreements happen and the right thing to do is to sit down and talk."

Cash con sees trio targeted

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

POLICE are warning residents to be alert after three people fell victim to courier fraud.

On the evening of February 17 the victims, from Bletchley, Emerson Valley and Willen Park, all received telephone calls from a person claiming to be from the Metropolitan Police Fraud Squad.

The three people, aged 66-70, were advised that the staff in their bank were being investigated and were asked to attend their branch the following day and withdraw cash to be collected for fingerprinting. The victims were instructed to place the money in a bag which would be collected by a courier.

This scam is a new variation of the one reported by MK NEWS before Christmas where residents receive a call from fraudsters saying they are from their bank or the police. They tell the victim there has been suspicious activity on their account and advise them to call the bank from the number on the back of their card.

The victim hangs up and dials the number, but the fraudster keeps the telephone line open so they can hear the person giving out their private details.

John Baston, supervisor at the Investigations Management Department, said: "The fraudsters who carry out these types of crime are very skilled and often target the elderly and vulnerable.

"If you receive such a call you should end it immediately."

Excited: Sea cadet Harriet Hulland

Nine finalists will be chosen on June 26 to win a trip to South Africa.

Harriet said: "I am excited as it will be a great experience."

Figures fall despite spate of burglaries

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

THE city's top cop has defended a spike in burglaries after almost 30 incidents took place in the first six weeks of the year.

On February 12 MK NEWS reported there had been 27 raids – this figure now stands at 37.

Superintendent Barry Halliday admits there has been a recent spate of such crimes.

He said: "There has been an increase but looking at recent figures for our area there has been a reduction in burglary of 11.7 per cent.

"The overall force target is to reduce burglaries by two per cent, so we have smashed that. There is a current spike but we saw this last year and since then there has been a significant decrease helped by Operation Dark Night."

The three-month operation aimed to reduce the number of burglaries during the winter.

Police continue to carry out 'cocooning' – knocking on the doors of neighbours in the week after burglaries when they are most vulnerable.

Supt Halliday added: "We accept there will be occasional spikes but detecting burglaries has increased by 18.8 per cent."

Power for life

Delivering electricity to homes and businesses is about more than just cables and wires, poles and pylons. It's about providing people with a service that they can depend upon to help them live their lives to the full.

At Western Power Distribution we are investing many millions of pounds long-term on our electricity network to ensure all our customers continue to receive the same world class service.

We are proud to be leading the way in terms of customer service, network reliability, technical innovation and environmental care, but we are not complacent. This is why we will continue to set our own demanding performance targets and exceed those set by our industry regulator.

Our Target 60 initiative is a case in point, for when power interruptions occur its aim is to restore supplies within the first hour. This is a commitment our customers can depend upon.

Hoping to cook up a storm in contest

KATHERINE DENHAM
editor@mk-news.co.uk

A BUDDING chef is one of just eight from across the UK who could win a £30,000 scholarship at a world-renowned culinary school and train at The Ritz.

Kieran Casey from Bradwell Common is in the running to study Le Grande Diplôme course run by Le Cordon Bleu.

The scholarship, for 18 to 24-year-olds, is at the Le Cordon Bleu Centre of Excellence in Bloomsbury Square, London.

It includes accommodation in the heart of the capital and an internship programme at The Ritz in London.

The winner of the Le Cordon Bleu Scholarship Award will be announced tomorrow.

Kieran said: "I'm really happy to be in the final because I know so many people entered.

"I've been interested in being a chef from a young age. I'm always experimenting with cooking and trying something new every day."

The 19-year-old had to upload a video of himself explaining why he thought he would be a good candidate for the scholarship.

The quality of the video saw him secure a place in the semi-finals where he was then interviewed by a panel of Le Cordon Bleu judges, which he admitted was 'nerve-wracking'.

"I'm extremely nervous about the competition, but reaching the finals has given me the confidence to move forward and build a career around my passion," he added.

"In the long-term I would like to have my own restaurant that serves traditional family meals, with good quality food and local produce."

Driver's plea to call Samaritans

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A TRAIN driver is urging people to contact the Samaritans if they feel suicidal – after a number of driver's lives have been 'devastated' by people jumping in front of them.

Andy Botham is a representative of ASLEF, the train driver's union, and also sits on the National Suicide Prevention Group.

He believes people do not understand the huge impact such incidents can have on train drivers.

His words come after Nigel Clements, 53, of Shropshire, died last Tuesday after jumping in front of a train at Milton Keynes Central.

At the opening of an inquest into his death yesterday, it was heard that Mr Clements, who had suffered with depression, jumped in front of a Virgin high speed train – causing the platforms to be evacuated while emergency services attended the scene.

Make the call: Andy Botham, inset, says suicides like ones at Milton Keynes Central are 'devastating' the lives of train drivers

Mr Botham told MK NEWS: "People don't understand the impact it has, it can be devastating.

"There are few people you meet who have killed someone, but that is essentially what you have done."

He also believes the problem 'may get worse before it gets better' as incidents usually spike during a recession.

In August 2013 alone there were three rail suicides in the Milton Keynes area.

Mr Botham added: "I would urge anyone in that position to call the Samaritans."

Samaritans are available every day on 08457 909090.

SPRING CLEAN YOUR PENSIONS!

As I write this article the sun is shining, there's a clear blue sky and mercifully no sign of rain! This got me thinking about spring cleaning. Isn't it high time you spring cleaned your pensions?

We regularly meet new clients who have frozen pensions that haven't been reviewed for many years, sometimes decades. It never ceases to amaze me just how poor many of these pensions are. Be it high charges, high commissions, poor investment performance, poor administration, lack of service, few if any reviews, you name it you'll find it.

Many of you will be familiar with people who never review their bank and building society deposit accounts, often earning diddly squat on their "Gold" account or their "supersaver" account. The same people often have one or several pensions from previous employers or personal pensions they no longer pay into. They do not realise just how much it is costing them by not reviewing their pensions regularly.

Most people have their pension invested in either a balanced managed fund or in with profits. The average annual return for managed pension funds in the UK over the last 19 years has been 6.3%. Our Wealth Investment Strategy over the same period has averaged 10.2% a year. What difference would this have made if you had started with £100,000 in your pension fund 19 years ago?

Tony Byrne
Chartered and Certified Financial Planner
Author of Wealth Magic

Well the average pension fund invested in the balanced managed sector would have grown to £320,560 but by using our Wealth Investment Strategy it would have grown to £558,620 instead!

What's the significance of this? Well it demonstrates that by achieving a higher return on your pension fund you can either enjoy a much larger pension income at retirement and/or retire much earlier.

So which would you rather have? An average performing pension or a top performing one? I think you know the answer.

If you are approaching retirement and/or considering early retirement and need advice why not get in touch?

To find out more why not come to a free retirement planning seminar at our Furzton Lake offices? We are also offering a free pensions and retirement assessment worth £270 to the first 10 people who contact us before 22 March 2014. For details go to www.wealthandtax.co.uk/pension.

Call for future ideas to highlight the past

BY KATHERINE DENHAM
editor@mk-news.co.uk

THE organisers of a popular annual event are asking the public for ideas on which attractions they would like to see added to help mark its 20th anniversary.

The Milton Keynes Heritage Open Days feature a host of free activities, including tours, special guided walks, workshops and access to places that are usually restricted to the public.

This year the event will take place from September 11-14 and organisers Living Archive are encouraging residents and businesses – especially those celebrating their 20th anniversary – to help extend the activities on offer.

Melanie Jeavons, from Living Archive, said: "The event has always been a success but we are looking for more unusual places members of the public want to see.

"We really want to attract younger people and families to enjoy our events."

Open wide: Medieval dentists talk to children at Bradwell Abbey during a previous Milton Keynes Heritage Open Days event

One suggestion has been for Wolverton Works to host an event to showcase the history of the site, which has been the home of the Royal Train for almost a century.

The idea behind Heritage Open Days, which began in 1994, is to raise awareness about the history of Milton Keynes and the surrounding area. Activities in past years have included visits to Bletchley Park, Cowper and Newton Museum in Olney and Milton Keynes Museum.

Anyone with ideas should email admin@livingarchive.org.uk.

Now and then: Jake Lockett from Monkston compares a drawing he did when he was two years old with one he has done now he is a graphic designer and aged 24

Artwork goes viral

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

A GRAPHIC designer has caused a social media frenzy with a collection of the drawings he has done since his was a toddler.

Jake Lockett, 24, from Monkston has turned a family project showing his drawing progression from the age of two up until now into an online sensation.

After posting a gallery on his blog he received 11,000 extra visitors and caught the attention of websites like Mashable – a social media site with more than 3.2million Twitter followers – and respected design blogs around the globe.

The former Walton High student said: "I discovered mum had kept so many drawings and dated them. I found it really interesting looking at my progress and recalled reading an article on how you can measure the development age of a child by their artwork.

"So I thought I'd start organising and picking out my favourite pieces from each year. I think it works so well because it's so visual and it tells a really personal story which people can relate to."

Jake, who is a designer at the Eat With Your Eyes agency in Bedford, believes he has pinpointed the moment when art became a career choice as well as a hobby.

He said: "I think the transition between the ages of 10, 11 and 12 is when I started to take drawing seriously .

"I began to draw to actively better myself and I always hoped I might be able to carve myself a creative career and I feel privileged that thanks to hard work it is now a reality."

Youngsters needed for new committee

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

CHILDREN as young as 11 are being invited to join a committee to represent the views and concerns of young people in their town.

West Bletchley Council is on the hunt for youngsters up to the age of 17 to join the committee – to which they would be democratically elected.

The authority says the committee will be given a 'genuine voice' and will be able to feed young peoples' opinions to councillors.

Tracy Mintern, community development officer at the council, said: "This forms part of our business plan over the next two years to increase our engagement with young people."

She added that children aged 11 were just starting secondary school and showed 'as much interest' in local issues as teenagers.

Britney Wilkins, 13, a student at Lord Grey School, is one youngster who has already shown an interest in joining the committee.

She said: "I'll be spreading the word at school asking people to join. It's a good idea and hopefully they'll listen."

Bethany, who is entertaining the possibility of a career in politics, already has one issue she wants to raise.

"There are some parks at the moment for children but they are vandalised," she said.

Those interested can attend a meeting at the Frank Moran Centre, Melrose Avenue, at 4.30pm on March 6. For more details email tracy.mintern@westbletchleycouncil.gov.uk.

New politics: Bradley Blakesley, Britney Wilkins and Bailey Swanston, who may join the committee, with Tracy Mintern

Home sweet home: Paul Adams with his family in their new house and, inset, their cramped bedsit

Family's new home

BY SCOTT KIRK
scott.kirk@mk-news.co.uk

A FATHER who was forced to live in a cramped bedsit with his young family for 10 months has finally been given a new home.

In November MK NEWS reported the plight of Paul Adams, 26, and his family – partner Carla Levitt and sons Rylan, four, and 11-month-old Kaden – who were living in a one-bedroom bedsit in North Tenth Street, CMK.

But the family, who were on Milton Keynes Council's housing waiting list, have now been given a two-bedroom bungalow in Bletchley.

"We couldn't ask for anything better and it fits our needs perfectly," said a delighted Mr Adams.

"The kids are sleeping a lot better now and my eldest is so excited that he has his own room."

However, he added that lessons could be learned by the council on how to help other people in the same situation.

"I don't resent the council but maybe some of the processes in which it helps people could be looked at," he said. "Being stuck in that situation isn't easy for anyone and having somebody just to update us on what was happening would have made things a lot easier for us."

Councillor Edith Bald, portfolio holder for housing at the council, said: "I am absolutely delighted for Mr Adams and that he and his family have a suitable property to move into.

"Mr Adams was next in line and it is important to emphasise that the family haven't jumped the queue – it was their turn."

Budget savings are given the go-ahead

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

COUNCILLORS have approved a budget for the city that identifies nearly £15million in savings.

At a tense council meeting last Wednesday – where MK NEWS was the only media present – it was also agreed public toilets would be installed at Station Square, as first revealed by this paper.

Angry members of pressure group Milton Keynes Against The Cuts heckled all three party leaders, urging them to oppose the cuts that had been imposed by central Government.

The budget was approved after 20 councillors voted in favour, but 30 abstained. No-one voted against the proposals.

It ensures that residents in Milton Keynes will not face any increase in their council tax bill for 2014/15.

Members also outlined their plans to carry out a review of the community transport Plus Bus – although an amendment was accepted that proposed £200,000 is made available to provide 'protection' for those who use the service until any changes from the review are implemented.

An amendment put forward by Liberal Democrat leader Douglas McCall to scrap the review was rejected.

Other highlights of the budget included securing government funding to dual a busy part of the A421 and a planned investment of £1.8million in the bus infrastructure.

Cllr Edith Bald, cabinet member for finance, said: "This is a tough environment, but we have worked hard to maintain valued frontline services and make sure the vulnerable are protected."

Turning your home into cash - FAST.

In these days of recession, homeowners are sitting on a valuable asset – but because of the state of the economy, selling up in the usual way can be difficult and time-consuming.

We hear how one couple found a way of turning bricks and mortar into money in the bank with a cash purchase from webuyanyhome.com

Paul and Lesley Henderson, a retired engineer and his wife, turned to webuyanyhome.com earlier this year. They found themselves in a difficult situation, and needed to quickly turn the value in their home, into ready cash.

Paul Henderson takes up the story: "Our circumstances changed really fast, for various reasons, and we needed to get our hands on a certain amount of money as quickly as we could. We knew we didn't stand a chance with the usual finance options, but we were luckier than some because we knew we had money in the house.

"But just trying to sell it like you usually would wasn't an option. For a start, there's all the hassle of dealing with estate agents, which can be a right pain. And then there's the time it takes, I think you're lucky to sell in six months these days."

Lesley continues: "We couldn't afford to take six weeks, never mind six months, so we were happy to listen when we heard about webuyanyhome.com.

"We got a figure for a cash payment offered the same day we called them– a bit less than the market rate, but we expected that – and someone came out to see the house the day after. All nice and friendly, they explained everything, and they told us they'd help us to find a solicitor and pay all the legal fees – that's the deal.

"Four weeks later, there was the cash sitting in the bank. I can't tell you how relieved we were to be free of all the pressure and worry, and now we've got everything sorted out.

"This really was the ideal answer for us – and if anyone's in the same situation, I wouldn't hesitate to say 'go for it".

Poppies for heroes

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A GARDEN centre is on a quest to help communities commemorate the 100th anniversary of the start of the First World War.

As part of its community programme Here We Grow, Dobbies Garden Centre in Bow Brickhill has launched its Poppies for our Heroes campaign, to help residents mark the centenary this year.

It has more than 400 poppy seed packets to give away for free to community groups.

Those that receive the seeds need to plant them in empty green spaces between March and April to ensure they flower in time for Remembrance Day on November 11.

Tanya de Coning, community champion at the Bow Brickhill centre, said: "The poppies will serve as a mark of respect for those who lost their lives in battle and in November the whole country will be looking to remember our heroes.

"Whether you're a school, community organisation, local charity or care centre looking to mark this occasion we would love to hear from you."

Judy Deveson, chairman of Stony Stratford in Bloom, said: "This is a brilliant idea. We have already started planting poppy seeds but we would love to be able to plant more and do workshops with the schools."

To apply for seeds contact Tanya on 01908 364890.

‘A difficult balancing act’

BY JAMES AVERILL
james.averill@mk-news.co.uk

THE councillor in charge of the area’s schools says it is a ‘difficult balancing act’ when it comes to providing extra spaces for pupils.

But Andy Dransfield, who is the cabinet member for children’s services and lifelong learning at Milton Keynes Council, says the long-term policy is to continue building new schools.

The council projected 3,856 children would need a primary school place in a Milton Keynes school in 2013.

When admissions closed in September last year there were 3,816 places requested – just 40 less.

Projections suggest Reception pupil numbers will top the 4,000 mark for the first time in 2015 and keep increasing until 2019.

They also show there were 2,818 secondary school admissions in September 2013.

As previously reported by MK NEWS, the clamour for places has resulted in a number of schools announcing they will be expanding to increase the number of student spaces they have available. Moorlands Primary School in Beanhill is the latest to announce it will be expanding, with building work set to start as early as next year to increase the number of spaces from 90 to 210 by September 2017.

Others expanding include Denbigh School, which will take an additional 300 pupils next year, and the controversial plans by Two Mile Ash School for 180 extra places.

But Cllr Dransfield has batted away claims from our readers that the council is thinking ‘short-term’ by expanding schools rather than building new ones.

He said: “We will build new schools. We will have three when the eastern flank is expanded and at least one in the western flank.

“There is land made available in new areas through planning permission to build schools.

But if we do build somewhere else it isn’t where the kids are – the council has a policy of expanding schools that are rated good or outstanding.

“There is a risk it adds pressure to those schools, but if we expand schools below ‘good’ it takes their eye off trying to improve. It’s a difficult balancing act.”

Thinking ahead: Cllr Andy Dransfield outside expanding Denbigh School

Google worker shares top tips

A GOOGLE executive and high flyer of British journalism has been sharing some of the secrets of his success with students at Milton Keynes College.

Peter Barron, head of external relations for Europe, the Middle East and Africa at Google, gave a talk to journalism, media and computing students at the college’s Chaffron Way campus.

The talk was arranged through the college’s partnership with Speakers for Schools – a charity which provides state secondary schools and colleges with free guest speakers.

The former Newsnight producer told students: “I shudder at how I wasted time at school. What you do in the next couple of years stays with you for the rest of your life.”

£4m for sport projects

PRIMARY schools in Milton Keynes will receive £4million for sport projects over the next six years. The funding comes from the Primary PE and Sport Premium, which is part of the Government’s economic plan to secure an Olympics legacy. MP Iain Stewart said the funding would give ‘real opportunities’ to children in the city.

Weaving and cooking

PUPILS at Sherington CE School have been enjoying a variety of activities. Weaving artist Alana Jolley taught Key Stage 1 children, while Reception celebrated Chinese New Year by cooking stir-fry vegetables for the school.

Targets are smashed

WEBBER Independent School has smashed all its previous records for KS4 (GCSE) performance after 74 per cent of students achieved five A*-C grades including English and maths in 2013 – a 24 per cent increase on the previous year’s results.

‘SMART’ contribution

THE Open University’s involvement in the MK:SMART project has won praise from a senior minister. The £16million project will analyse data about the use of water, energy and transport infrastructure. Greg Clark, Minister of State for Cities, said during a visit to the OU it would ‘fix the eyes of the world’ on partnerships between academic institutions and businesses.

Budding filmmakers in contest

WANNABE moviemakers are taking part in the area’s first school film competition.

Ten students from five secondary schools have joined an intensive weekly programme run by JCC Media’s Junior Filmmakers and Milton Keynes Community Foundation.

Their films will address key themes including poverty and unemployment and will be judged by a panel from the UK film industry.

The winner, who will be announced at a film festival in July, will receive £200 for their school.

Nana Oguntola, from Junior Filmmakers, said: “Students will learn great skills specific to filmmaking and employment skills like team work.”

Seeing science in action

Science success: Airkix hopes to inspire pupils with workshops

PUPILS will be flying high at a physics lesson with a difference.

Airkix Indoor Skydiving, based at Xscape, is trying to make science more entertaining with its Wind Workshop for primary school pupils and a Physics is Fun session for secondary school students. Both offer practical demonstrations and the chance for children to fly in the wind tunnel.

CEO Simon Ward said: “Indoor skydiving and workshops are the formula for science success.”

Horse Wallis saddles up for vet TV show

BY JESSICA DUNCAN
jessica.duncan@mk-news.co.uk

A HORSE who has survived three serious illnesses will star in a television show later this year.

Wallis is owned by 42-year-old Trudie Higgins and lives at her Lakes Lane Stables in Newport Pagnell.

The 21-year-old cob has been seriously ill three times in just four years, receiving treatment at Buckingham Equine Vets in Wicken.

In 2010 he had surgery to have his left eye removed after suffering from the extremely painful condition uveitis.

In 2012 he had an operation to remove a cheek tooth after experiencing toothache and refusing to eat. Then last month he had to undergo extensive sinus surgery.

A final year student from the Royal Veterinary College (RVC) in London was involved in Wallis' sinus surgery at its Equine Referral Hospital.

It was considered so interesting it was filmed for a new BBC Two series which follows the life of final year students at the RVC. The show, which is due to air in the autumn, has been compared to BBC Three's hit Junior Doctors.

Trudie said: "It was a bit crazy when they asked if they could film Wallis. I didn't realise they would want an interview as well. If he could see the television he would be so happy he was on it, he thinks he rules the roost anyway.

"The Royal Veterinary College and its partners Buckingham Equine Vets have been brilliant in looking after Wallis over the years."

Rock legend Alvin will sprinkle his Stardust at The Stables

THE godfather of British rock'n'roll is heading to Milton Keynes.

That man is Alvin Stardust, and while it's a huge title to be bestowed, it's one that was christened upon Alvin by none other than Rolling Stones guitarist Keith Richards.

Born Bernard Jewry in 1942, Alvin got his first guitar at the age of 12, swiftly taking it to a Buddy Holly gig.

He managed to wrangle his way backstage and Holly, seeing the youngster with his guitar, invited him to the dressing room for a jam.

The guitar – named Peggy Sue – now has a host of signatures on it including Holly and every member of the Stones and The Beatles.

Originally finding fame as Shane Fenton in the 60s, a name change to Alvin Stardust and a debut single that reached number two in the charts (My Coo Ca Choo) spawned a run of successful tunes with high chart entries.

A superlative live performer, Alvin continues to be at the cutting edge of his profession, especially if you want to rock.

He will be playing at The Stables on Friday at 8pm.

Tickets to the show cost £19.50 and can be bought from www.stables.org or by calling the box office on 01908 280800.

legomovie

THERE will be a certain section of society who will question how you can make a feature length film about lego.

It's just another gimmick to help toy sales, they'll argue.

And lego sales probably will shoot through the roof thanks to The Lego Movie, which is currently showing in cinemas.

And the reason for that is because this is a thoroughly good film that will capture the imagination of everyone who sees it.

The plot centres on construction worker and aptly named Emmet Brickowski (Chris Pratt) and his bid to stop the evil Lord Business (Will Ferrell) from...you guessed it...destroying the world.

Full of Hollywood names including Morgan Freeman and Liam Neeson, the plot also features some great character cameos from DC Comic superheroes and even NBA legend Shaquille O'Neal.

The characters may not be real, but we have seen in Pixar films like Toy Story and Up that they don't necessarily need to be to be loved, to amuse or to pull at the heartstrings.

The plot may be a tad predictable, but the characters are entertaining, fun and charming throughout.

princegeorge

FOOD fit for a king, or a prince for that matter, is what you can expect from the city's newest pub.

Very friendly staff and a nice vibe also await visitors to the Prince George in Portishead Drive in Tattenhoe.

When I went with my girlfriend the tomato and basil breadsticks with a rich mozzarella fondue got proceedings off to a fantastic start.

It was as a starter should be – not too filling so that you've still got room for your main course.

I plumped for the pub's speciality – a chicken and steak combo – while my girlfriend had a chicken breast burger.

I was more than happy with mine, which I ordered with a side of smoky chilli. The steak was cooked beautifully, the chicken was very moist and the flavours went very well together.

The chicken breast burger was a very good option for those of you wanting to stick to your healthy diet.

All in all we had a cracking night and I'd definitely recommend it.

ellietaylor

THE Comedy Cow is putting on a new show for Milton Keynes' audiences – and the hilarious Snog, Marry, Avoid presenter Ellie Taylor will be fronting the first ever Comedy Cowshed.

Taking place on the second Monday of every month, the Comedy Cowshed aims to be a place where experienced stand-up comics can try out new material and where those beginning on the circuit can sample the reaction they get and polish their jokes.

For the opening night on Monday, March 10, Ellie will be trying out about 20 minutes of material for her debut solo show at the Edinburgh Fringe.

As well as being the presenter of BBC Three's Snog, Marry, Avoid, she is a team captain on ITV2's Fake Reaction and has also appeared on the hit Channel 4 panel show 8 Out of 10 Cats and BBC Three's stand-up series Show Me The Funny.

Tickets to the nights are free with a collection being taken at the end which will be shared among the acts.

Booking is required at http://thecomedycow.ticketsource.co.uk so that organisers can ensure they have enough seating.

Doors to the event, taking place at The Crown in Market Square, Stony Stratford, open at 7pm for a 7.45pm start.

ROB Riekie is head of operations at The Parks Trust. He's responsible for the management of more than 5,000 acres of parkland. In this article for MK LIFE, Rob – who has been with the trust for 35 years – talks about how he manages the parkland in a city famous for its trees

OUR vast parks, woodlands, spinneys and planting alongside the main grid roads take a great deal of care and dedication.

Our work is about creating beautiful places for everyone to enjoy.

By the end of March this year alone we will have planted an amazing 29,449 plants, including hazel and hawthorn, and tree species such as silver birch, field maple and disease resistant elm.

In the early years of the city, trees and shrubs were planted at high density with fast growing plants to create immediate impact. As these plants mature they need to be thinned or removed to allow the landscape to develop, including increasing the light to lower levels and ground flora. As this work progresses new plants can replace tired ones or stock that is dying out.

When we view a park we consider what the landscape looks like today and what it may look like in five, 10 or 50 years time.

No-one wants to cut down a healthy tree, but often for an area and its wildlife to flourish, we have to select the right trees for the location. We need to consider if they present a current or future hazard to the public and if there are disease issues.

We encourage people to talk to us about their parks and our work and to contact us if they have any concerns about our activities, or if they want to become more involved with the trust through volunteering. Call 01908 255379 for details.

MRS Brown's Boys is a recent phenomenon to me, and I'm glad because it's hilarious, writes Scott Kirk.

It's a show that I used to dip in and out of, but after watching the hilarious Christmas special it is now one for the Sky Plus series link in our household.

Brendan O'Carroll is a comedy genius and I love the fact that he makes it obvious that the show is on a set.

It gives the programme an authentic, old-fashioned sitcom feel and in this mile-a-minute society we now live in, I think it's extremely refreshing.

Most importantly, it's absolutely hysterical and O'Carroll is at his best with the physical comedy, as well as the rude and sometimes crude humour which we're all guilty of loving now and again!

HOLIDAY love rats have nothing on Dirty Rotten Scoundrels, Lawrence Jameson (Robert Lindsay) and Freddie Benson (Rufus Hound).

But the bad boys of Beaumont sur Mer, on the French Riviera, don't have it all their own way. A trio of feisty females – Samantha Bond, Katherine Kingsley and Lizzie Connolly – make sure of that.

For a new musical to be successful, it has to have the wow factor. With a strong plot, catchy score, witty dialogue, fabulous design and a great cast and director on board, this show has it all.

Catch it now at Aylesbury Waterside Theatre before it sells out in the West End.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

• Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.

• Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.

• Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.

• Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.

• Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details
Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address . If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile
This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications
List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience
Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills
Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies
Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References
Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

• Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.

• Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.

• Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.

• Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Bletchley five clear at top

BLETCHLEY now have a five-point advantage at the summit of the Southern Counties North division after a 31-16 victory at Drifters.

The Manor Fields side travelled for a re-arranged match from two weeks ago, with a much changed backline and substitutes bench from the last game played, which was on February 1 in the Southern Counties final, which the league leaders lost to Trowbridge 34-10.

Bletchley played with the wind in the first half and managed to run in two converted tries.

Phil Harman was the beneficiary of scoring the first try from a great offload from scrum-half Kevin Turnbull.

The second try was the result of much sustained pressure by the forwards which ended up with a pushover try for Steve Allen to dot down.

Both tries were converted to give Bletchley a 14-0 advantage, but Drifters managed a penalty kick to make the score 14-3 going into half-time.

Bletchley ran in a further three tries in the second half.

Again great pressure from the forwards resulted in Adam Fox crashing over for the third try and Phil Harman converted to make it 21-3.

The fourth try which resulted in the bonus point for Bletchley was the pick of the lot, with Turnbull sidestepping his opposite number and cover defence to score in the corner.

The final try was scored by the ever dangerous Will Garrett to take the score to 31-3.

Drifters managed to secure two tries and a penalty to reduce the deficit to 31-16, but by then the game had been won by Bletchley.

Coach Pete Garrett was very satisfied with the forwards' performance and he said that he was excited about the young backs that stepped up to the mark.

Milton Keynes were stung by a 41-6 defeat against Royal Wootton Bassett.

They remain fourth in the division but are now 13 points off pace-setters Bletchley.

In Midlands Two East (South), Olney secured a 31-10 triumph over Northampton Old Scouts.

That result keeps them in fifth, but it reduces the gap between themselves and fourth-placed Lutterworth to seven points.

MK Dons Head of Coaching GARY WADDOCK writes exclusively for MK News every week

SATURDAY was a good away performance and I thought we played very well against Bradford City.

We had plenty of opportunities before the mistake from our goalkeeper David Martin but the 1-0 defeat up there wasn't down to him.

I don't think he's made a mistake like that in his entire career.

It's a big boost to us that Darren Potter has signed a new two year contract with the club.

I've only been here this season but you can see what a big player he is within the team and in the dressing room.

I think he could be the catalyst for other players to sign contracts and he has been one of the main players here for the last few seasons.

For the four academy lads who have been offered pro-contracts – Brendan Galloway, Giorgio Rasulo, Harry Hickford and Will Summerfield – it's only the start of their journey and it's hard enough getting the deal in the first place.

Now the hard work starts for them.

Jordan Ibe has gone to Birmingham City on loan from Liverpool and he was a player who I gave his debut to when I was manager at Wycombe Wanderers.

He's got the potential to be a very good player at Premier League level and everybody could see that when I was at Wycombe.

He's a talented boy and he has already made his debut for Liverpool.

Now he's gone out on loan to a team in the Championship and he's definitely got a big future ahead of him.

• GARY was speaking prior to Dons' trip to Oldham Athletic last night.

Lightning end five-match losing streak with Steely victory

ICE HOCKEY

MK LIGHTNING captain Adam Carr said he was relieved the side got back to winning ways after an 'unacceptable' five-match losing streak.

Although Lightning have reached the final of the EPL Cup, with the first leg against Basingstoke Bison in Coventry next Wednesday, Lightning's league form had taken a slump for the worse.

But they saw off Sheffield Steeldogs 5-2 at Coventry Skydome on Saturday, to the relief of skipper Carr.

"It was a pretty bad run and it wasn't really acceptable to lose five games in a row," he said.

"We've lost four games to Sheffield this season when we're looking to win series against teams, so to lose four is disappointing."

Lightning have a crucial double-header with Guildford Flames at the weekend, and Carr insists that the team are not getting distracted with their cup final date as they aim for a push to finish third in the league.

"We're looking at that third spot so it's a massive weekend for us," he said. "We've got results against Guildford this year so we need four points. All our focus is on the weekend and we will put the cup to the back of our mind until Monday morning."

Sheffield was the only game this weekend for Lightning, which provided a welcome break according to Carr.

"It was nice to have Sunday off – we've had a lot of midweek games recently so to have a little break meant that players could spend time with their families and I think it will do us all the world of good," he said.

On Saturday the hosts took the lead in super fast time, scoring after only 12 seconds when Michael Farn supplied Leigh Jamieson from the neutral zone. He accelerated past his marker, rounded netminder Dalibor Sedlar and put the puck firmly into the net.

It didn't take long for the two teams to clash physically with Tom Carlon and Lee Haywood both being despatched to the penalty box on 1min 5secs.

Steeldogs player coach Andre Payette sat an additional penalty and he returned to the sin bin twice more in the opening 10 minutes – for slashing and roughing – before realising the error of his ways.

It was not until the two outfits were at even strength that the next goal came – with Sheffield levelling when Lubimor Korhon made the pass for Haywood to beat netminder Stephen Wall after 17mins 45secs.

Sheffield took the lead 4mins 38secs into the middle stanza with Greg Chambers supplying Greg Wood to score.

The game turned on its head with a pair of goals less than 30 seconds apart – giving Lightning back the initiative. First Ross Bowers intercepted the puck in the Steeldogs defensive zone and found space to beat Sedlar off guard on 29mins 22secs.

Within seconds Stan Lascek nearly registered with a shot which rocked the right post, which was the precursor to Lascek's first goal of the night – this time the shot went over Sedlar's shoulder and into the top right corner of the net at 29mins 49secs.

Lascek nearly made it 4-2 within the first minute or so of the final period with a shot which came off the outside of the pipework. Wall then had to be alert to stop a Chambers effort.

It was not until Lukas Zatopek was penalised for holding in the 55th minute that there was any further score. However it was not the visitors but Lightning who found the net with Lewis Christie feeding Tom Carlon to go solo and fire home – albeit off the goalie at 57mins 2secs for a shorthanded score.

As Ben Russell and Steeldogs' Craig Elliott were sin binned for roughing with just over a minute to go, Sheffield withdrew Sedlar for the extra skater. It was a move that back fired when Farn found Lascek on the boards and he was able to complete the tally on the empty net with 45secs remaining.

On Wednesday night, short-benched Lightning succumbed to a 3-2 defeat at Swindon Wildcats.

The visitors started the game without the services of Bowers who was unable to play due to work commitments and Finnish import Janne Jokila had to withdraw through injury.

Dons hold on for rare midweek win

FROM BACK PAGE

Mark Oxley. But Dons were given the perfect start after three minutes when they took an early lead. Gleeson had a punt from fully 35 yards, which McLeod blocked on the edge of the Oldham box. But that touch set up Baldock, who from 20 yards out struck a sweet, right-footed shot into the bottom corner to open the scoring.

Jordan Spence showed why Robinson wants to keep him at the club with a supreme bit of defending in the 10th minute.

He showed great strength to hold off former Don MacDonald when the striker ran on to a looped ball over the top by Jon Stead.

But Spence had the wherewithal to keep MacDonald at bay, and managed to win a free kick after the striker hassled him too vigorously.

The goal seemed to awaken Oldham, and they looked composed going forward, but the best of their early chances was a speculative long range effort that was comfortably collected from Stead, and then a header from the former Blackburn Rovers striker that, while on target, lacked any serious power.

And while it had been Oldham who had done most of the probing, it was Dons who were having the better of the opportunities. The next good one came on 23 minutes when Antony Kay put in a fantastic header from a corner, and Connor Brown had to head the ball off his line to keep the Dons lead at 1-0.

Dele Alli's 60-yard run nearly resulted in an Oldham chance when the home side tried to take advantage of the space that had been left behind, but Dons keeper David Martin showed signs that his wobble against Bradford City on Saturday was firmly behind him when he bravely rushed out of his goal to dive at Gary Harkins' feet after the Oldham player dribbled into the box, thwarting the chance.

The Boundary Park faithful were showing signs of being frustrated with their team as the half wore on, with plenty of passes going astray, and as long as Dons stayed cool, they looked like scoring again.

The visitors were pressing well off the ball, forcing mistakes from the Lancastrians, and keeping their discipline at the back.

New boy: Larnell Cole warms up

Stead was played onside by Spence in the 38th minute after Harkins passed to him, but again his shot lacked power, and Martin could gather comfortably.

With four minutes left until half time, Dons doubled the advantage. With the defence napping, McLeod found himself with the ball, and after a moment to compose himself in the box, he stroked the ball beyond Oxley to make it 2-0 and give Dons some breathing space.

A lovely passing move on the cusp of half time led to Harkins hitting the side-netting for the home side, but there was just about time for Dons to hit the post before the interval.

Reeves' 25-yarder looked innocuous enough, but Oxley didn't get a proper grip on the ball and proceeded to deflect it on to a post, which bounced out unfortunately for Dons.

Oldham had been poor in the first half, which led to a chorus of boos from the home fans at half time, while Dons had taken their chances.

Oldham made a triple substitution at the break to inject some life into their game, and apart from a melee in the centre circle when Alli was fouled, there wasn't much to report on until Oldham pulled a goal back with yet another Don getting the goal.

It was simple enough for him. The corner came in, and MacDonald's header went on target and beyond Martin to bring the home side back into the match and make it 2-1.

New boy Larnell Cole was introduced to proceedings just before the hour, and he showed flashes of why he was at Manchester United with some neat touches and nice passes.

Spence put a brilliant block in on sub Jonson Clarke-Harris to deny the Oldham man in the 66th minute, with the resulting shot being deflected wide for a corner which the visitors managed to clear.

Ryan Hall had a golden opportunity to provide Dons with some wiggle room when he was through one-on-one with Oxley, but he shot straight at the keeper to keep the scores at 2-1.

But apart from that chance, Dons were largely under the cosh in the second half, and the home side's ttiple change gamble was working.

The curse of the ex-Don nearly struck once again with 10 minutes left, but Martin did brilliantly to deny MacDonald by coming to meet him and the ball with them just five yards out.

A few seconds later and Harkins had a shot hacked off the line as Dons looked to hold on for a crucial three points.

James Dayton's dramatic attempt at winning a penalty was given short shrift by the referee as Oldham fought for the equaliser.

The corners and set-pieces were building for the Latics, with Hall heading away a ball that skittled up to him in the six-yard box.

Martin failed to gather the cross in the 89th minute from the left, but from 25 yards out, Harkins could only blast his effort over.

And despite a nervous ending to the second half, with a 93rd minute corner thrown into the mix, Dons held on for victory. The gap to the play-offs is back down to six points.

Red Bull still struggling in Bahrain testing

TILBROOK-based Red Bull Racing are still facing reliability issues with their car despite an improvement on the Jerez testing session.

Drivers Sebastian Vettel and Daniel Ricciardo still have problems, but they were both able to get more laps in last week before the season begins with the Australian Grand Prix on March 16.

The final day of the first of two pre-season tests in Bahrain saw new man Ricciardo post 15 laps as the team's running was hampered by issues discovered during the morning session.

"In all honesty it wasn't a great day," said Ricciardo. "I guess we still need more time. We have four more days coming up and hopefully we can maximise those.

"I hope we can do more running next week. "I'm happy I'm doing the first two days. At this stage we just need laps and I'm just keen to get back in the car."

Race engineering co-ordinator Andy Damerum added: "The last morning we felt like we were in good shape.

"We had everything completed ahead of schedule and got out in good time. However, on Daniel's install we noticed a software problem and that knocked us back.

"We've made some very good progress, particularly on day two, but we've also had a number of problems that have again held us back. The engineering team will head back to Milton Keynes now to plan the next moves and we can only look forward and try to get everything in place for the next test."

Vettel posted a total of 59 laps at the Bahrain International Circuit on his second day of testing in the Gulf state last Thursday, as the team made progress towards solving the reliability issues which hampered the team during test one in Jerez.

Afterwards, the defending champion said his latest spell at the wheel of the new RB10 had ended on a positive note.

"It was definitely a better day today," he said. "We did more laps, so that's encouraging. "It's good to check the car and check the reliability, but obviously there is a lot still to do. It was good to get a proper feel for the car and it feels okay but there's a lot more to come.

"It's difficult to talk about catching up [to rivals] because I don't know what other people are doing, but we did more laps than we have done so far and that's the big thing.

"We're learning every single lap, even if the quality of the lap is sometimes not the best.

"However, the most important thing is to run and we did that – the last two days have been very useful."

The Mercedes duo of Nico Rosberg and Lewis Hamilton recorded the fastest times of testing, with the German a second ahead of his English compatriot. Ricciardo was 15th fastest, with Vettel 17th.

Four more days of testing begin in Bahrain tomorrow.

Robbo over the moon as Dons lift Tuesday hoodoo

LEAGUE ONE
OLDHAM ATHLETIC 1
MK DONS 2

MK DONS manager Karl Robinson could not contain his delight as his side picked up their first midweek league win of the season yesterday.

First half strikes from George Baldock and Izale McLeod were enough for Dons, and Robinson was ecstatic despite Charlie MacDonald becoming the seventh ex-Don to score against the club this season.

"I was disappointed to concede a goal at a set piece but the curse of the ex-striker goes on," he said.

"I thought the boys stuck to the challenge and tactically we got it right – I'm absolutely ecstatic.

"All our stats would have told you we would have lost here today so I'm over the moon with them."

Robinson was also delighted for Baldock, who faced a race against time to be fit after hobbling off against Bradford on Saturday.

"I'm so happy for him and he's becoming a bit of a favourite at the club," he said. "It's hard living in the shadow of a brother [former Don Sam] who was so successful but now he's standing on his own."

There was one blow as Stephen Gleeson pulled his thigh, and could miss Sheffield United this weekend.

The game started strongly for Dons when Ben Reeves got a shot on target after just 20 seconds.

Baldock fed the ball into him and the former Southampton man rattled off a shot from 15 yards which drew a good save from

Coup for Dons as Cole loan sealed

KARL Robinson said that he was 'really excited' by the loan signing of Larnell Cole after completing the capture of the Fulham midfielder until the end of the season yesterday.

The 20-year-old, a former England U19 and U20 international, left Manchester United for Fulham on Transfer Deadline Day last month when the Cottagers were still managed by Rene Meulensteen, but now finds himself at League One Dons just 25 days after that switch.

His move follows Meulensteen's departure and the subsequent appointment of Felix Magath at the Premier League club, and is a real coup for Dons who have landed a player who played top flight football earlier this month when Fulham drew 2-2 with United at Old Trafford.

Cole, who can play across the midfield or at full-back, went straight into the squad for yesterday's trip to Oldham (see left).

"I'm really excited by this signing," Robinson told mkdons.com. "We've been watching him for a while and he is a high-potential player.

"We had to react quickly to the Samir Carruthers injury and he's exactly the type of player I want to bring to the football club – a player of quality, a player of note."

Cole's signing came during a busy few days for the stadiummk outfit, which also saw central midfielder Darren Potter agreeing a new two-year deal.

The 28-year-old has been a stand-out performer since joining from Sheffield Wednesday in the summer of 2011 and his contract extension is a huge boost for the club.

Meanwhile, a quartet of academy youngsters were given pro-deals to become part of the first team squad on Friday – Giorgio Rasulo, Brendan Galloway, Harry Hickford and Will Summerfield.

On the same day Dons also agreed the one-month loan of winger Sanmi Odelusi from Bolton, with the 20-year-old also catching Robinson's eye.

"He's extremely quick and he is going to give us some pace and something a bit different," he said.
